

buildings as the county commissioners shall from time to time direct.

86. He shall, as a compensation for such services, be entitled to two dollars a day, in addition to his fees, for every day he shall attend during the session of said court, and to such further compensation as the county commissioners may in their discretion allow for taking care of the public buildings.

DROVERS.

87. Every drover who shall drive any cattle or sheep in or through Kent county shall have each one marked with red paint or tar on their forehead or back, that the mark may be easily discovered or seen, and on failure thereof he shall forfeit the value of such cattle or sheep as shall be found in his drove unmarked by any resident of said county.

88. Any person finding any unmarked cattle or sheep in a drove, in said county, may take them from such drove, and if they are not his own, he shall advertise them in some public newspaper, for not less than three weeks, and if no owner shall then appear to claim them, he shall sell them at public sale.

89. One half of the net amount of such sale, after deducting the charges for keeping such cattle or sheep, shall go to the person so detecting or taking up, and the other half to the county commissioners, to be applied or divided among the primary schools of said county.

ELECTIONS.

90. Kent county is divided into three election districts, according to their present bounds and limits, and elections for all public officers shall be held in each of said districts at the place now established by law for that purpose.

FENCES.

91. Wherever joint fences have been or may be established in said county, for the mutual advantage of different owners or possessors of adjoining lands, each party shall keep in good repair his proper proportion thereof in manner following, that is to say: all post and rail or plank fences shall be at least four feet six inches high, and not more than four inches between the lower
