

estimated by the justice, conditioned to prosecute with effect his appeal to the Circuit Court.

214. The justice taking the appeal bond shall immediately deliver the same to the officer who made the arrest, and in case of the forfeiture thereof, the officer shall have full power to prosecute the same for his own use and the use of those engaged with him in making the arrest and seizure.

215. If within ten days from the rendition of judgment no appeal bond is accepted by the justice to arrest further proceedings on said judgment, it shall be the duty of the officer making the arrest and seizure, after having given ten days' notice by public advertisement, to sell to the best advantage for cash for his benefit and the benefit of those who aided him in making the arrest and seizure, the boat or vessel in his possession, together with all the papers, furniture, tackle and apparel, and all other property seized.

216. After payment of the costs accruing from the prosecution of offenders under the 204th section of this article, the balance arising from the fine and sales aforesaid shall be divided in the following manner: one-fourth thereof to the officer making the arrest and seizure, and the balance equally among those whom he may have summoned and who have aided in the same.

217. If resistance be apprehended by the sheriff, or any other officer engaged in making such seizure, he shall summon to his aid the posse comitatus, armed and equipped as the occasion may require, and shall press into his service any steamboat not actually engaged in conveying the public mail, or other vessel whatever, at the risk and expense of the State, and proceed therewith without delay to execute his duty; and if resistance be made, such resistance shall be deemed a misdemeanor, presentable by the grand jury of the county and punishable in the Circuit Court by fine and imprisonment, and the person or persons charged with resisting shall be arrested and taken before a justice of the peace of the county, and be treated by said justice as other offenders against the laws of this State.

WITNESSES.

218. Each witness summoned to any court in said county shall be entitled to receive for each day he shall attend the sum of
