

the house of Margaret Warren on the Frederick Road, thence to the beginning. The commissioners hereafter to be elected may make such alterations in the said limits as they may deem advisable, and cause the same to be surveyed, and the boundaries thereof to be established, and a record thereof to be filed amongst the records of the corporation.

55*. The citizens of the town, having resided therein twelve months previous to any election, shall on the first Monday in May next, and annually thereafter, on the same day, elect three commissioners for Rockville, to serve for one year from the date of their election and until their successors are elected and qualified. The commissioners must be substantial citizens, residents in said corporate limits, and must have resided therein for at least five years next preceding their election, and continue to do so during their continuance in office. They shall receive no pay for their services, except the president, who shall receive fees hereinafter allowed.

56*. The person receiving the highest number of votes shall be the president of the commissioners; and all vacancies in the commissioners shall be filled by an election held after ten days' notice given by the remaining commissioners.

57*. The commissioners shall meet at some convenient place in said town, on, or before the first Monday in June next succeeding their election, and as often thereafter as may be necessary to discharge the duties of their office.

58*. The commissioners shall annually, on or before the first Monday in April, appoint two judges of elections, who shall appoint one clerk, and the judges shall conduct the elections according to the election laws of the State, but opening the polls, at some convenient place, at ten o'clock in the morning, and closing the same at four o'clock in the afternoon; and the judges and clerk shall make their returns to the commissioners, and shall each receive two dollars a day for their services. The first election shall be held before Samuel C. Viers and Lawrence Lyddane, who are appointed judges for that purpose.

59*. The commissioners shall annually appoint a clerk, who shall keep minutes of their proceedings in a well bound book, which shall be open to the inspection of all persons interested therein,
