

157. If any person shall attend and not perform the reasonable labor required of him by the overseer according to his ability, he shall incur the same penalty as if he had neglected to attend.

158. If any master or overseer of any slave being notified shall refuse or neglect to send such slave, he shall forfeit one dollar for every slave so refused or neglected to be sent.

159. The supervisor shall compel every slave summoned and sent to perform the labor required of him.

160. Each supervisor shall keep a list of the persons who, being summoned to work upon the roads, shall refuse or neglect to attend as required, or who, attending, shall refuse to work thereon, and of every master who shall neglect or refuse to send the slaves required to be sent, and shall, once in every six months, call upon each of said persons liable to fines as aforesaid, and demand payment of the money forfeited, and on refusal or neglect to pay the same, shall collect said fines before any justice of the peace for said county.

161. The said supervisors shall severally account annually for all fines and forfeitures received by them to the county commissioners upon oath, and pay the amount thereof as the county commissioners shall direct.

162. The county commissioners of said county shall annually contract with some proper persons for repairing and keeping in order the causeway commonly known by the name of Vienna Causeway, and the wharf adjoining the same, the causeway on the south side of Wicomico River at the lower ferry, and the wharves at said ferry on each side thereof, and the causeway and wharves at the upper ferry on Wicomico River on each side thereof, and the causeway on the north side of Pocomoke River at Stephen's Ferry.

163. If any person with whom the said county commissioners shall contract for repairing the said causeways and wharves shall not repair the same agreeably to the terms of their contract within a reasonable time after the same shall be out of repair, or shall in any manner fail to comply with the terms of such contract, he shall forfeit the sum of twenty dollars for each neglect
