

county; but if the justice shall be of opinion that wild fowl have been shot at or killed contrary to the provisions of section 206 of this article, he shall impose fines of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars upon each person engaged, directly or indirectly, therein, for each offence, and may commit them to jail in the event of their not paying such fines, if the officer making the arrest and seizure desire it; and if committed, the officer shall be answerable for their jail fees, at the rate of twenty-five cents per day, and on failure to pay said fees for the space of three consecutive days, they shall be discharged.

210. The justice shall also adjudge as forfeited to the officer and the persons who aided him in making the arrest and seizure, the boat or craft in the possession of the officer, together with the papers, furniture, tackle and apparel, and all things on board of her at the time of her seizure, and all property in the possession of said officer, seized as aforesaid; and the officer, with the persons who aided him in making the arrest, shall sell the same to the highest bidder, after ten days' notice.

211. Any person convicted of offending against the provisions of section 206 of this article, may, within ten days from the rendition of the judgment of the justice, appeal to the Circuit Court for Talbot county, and the case, at his election, shall be heard in a summary way by the judge of said court, or he may have a trial by jury; but such appeal shall not stay proceedings on the judgment of the justice of the peace, unless the appellant shall, within ten days after the rendition of said judgment, enter into bond to the State, with two sufficient securities, to be approved by the justice, in a penal sum double the amount in value of the boat or craft and property seized and the fines imposed, to be estimated by the justice, conditioned to prosecute his appeal with effect; and the justice shall deliver the bond to the officer making the arrest; and in case of forfeiture of the bond, the officer may prosecute the same for his own use and the use of those engaged with him in making the arrest and seizure.

212. If within ten days from the rendition of the judgment no appeal bond is accepted by the justice, the officer making the arrest and seizure shall, after having given ten days' notice by public advertisement, sell for cash the property condemned, and after deducting the costs of prosecution and sale, shall divide
