The Council was organized by the Governor, August 1, 1940. Subsequently on March 31, 1941, the State Legislature established the Maryland Council of Defense by law.

At the 1943 session of the General Assembly a revised Civilian Defense Bill was enacted retaining the original Council, but empowering the Governor to appoint an Executive Committee of seven members from the membership of the Council. The Executive Committee is empowered to adopt, promulgate and enforce, rules and regulations governing blackouts and other precautionary measures against enemy attack. It is also authorized to prescribe and direct all activities designed to aid and assist in the furtherance of the war effort.
