STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, TOWSON

Earle T. Hawkins, Ph.D., President

Towson, Baltimore 4

Telephone: Valley 3-7500

The State Teachers College at Towson, oldest and largest teacher-education institution in the State, was established as the first State normal school by Chapter 160, Acts of 1865. The school was originally located in Baltimore and moved to its present suburban location at Towson in 1915 where it occupies a campus of 100 acres. In 1935 it became a four-year teachers college with a program leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science.

The college currently offers programs both in teacher education and in the arts and sciences. Graduates in teacher education may be prepared for teaching in the kindergarten, elementary, junior high or senior high schools. Students enrolled in the program of arts and sciences may qualify in any one of several major fields for a Bachelor of Science or a Bachelor of Arts degree. The college also offers a program of graduate studies for teachers in the elementary school leading to the degree of Master of Education.

Students enrolling in the four-year curriculum for prospective teachers pay no tuition if they are residents of Maryland and promise to teach in the public schools of the State following their graduation. The total number of students enrolled in the college for the academic year 1960-61 was 1640.
