Morgan State College was organized in 1867, under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as the Centenary Biblical Institute. The school remained under church jurisdiction until the State of Maryland purchased it by Chapter 331, Acts of 1939. In 1890, the school's name had been changed to Morgan College in honor of Dr. Lyttleton Morgan, whose gift of a large sum of money enabled the school to offer academic work at the college level.

The College is fully accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and by the Department of Education of Maryland. It is also approved by the Regents of the University of the State of New York, and by the American Medical Association.

The curriculum at Morgan State College is organized into three divisions: Humanities, Natural Sciences, and Social Sciences. Within these divisions are included eighteen departments offering courses leading to the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees. Emphasis is placed upon the presentation of a standard four-year course in the liberal arts and teacher training, both elementary and secondary. Both day and evening courses are offered, and at the present time, students may complete all requirements for the major in Business Administration, Sociology, and History through study in the Evening College. A Summer Session is conducted as a part of the regular work of the college, and includes "in-service training" for teachers in Maryland schools.

During the academic year 1960-61, Morgan had an enrollment in all divisions of 3251, including 2427 day students, 364 evening students, and 982 summer students.
