Route #3, Hagerstown (Washington County)

Telephone: Regent 3-2800 (Hagerstown)

The Maryland State Reformatory for Males is a medium security institution which was activated by Chapter 519, Acts of 1945, replacing the Maryland State Penal Farm established by Chapter 366, Acts of 1931 at the same location. The Courts commit males from 16 through 25 years of age to the Reformatory to serve indeterminate sentences which have maximum limits. Although this institution is primarily for youthful offenders, it receives prisoners from the Penitentiary and the House of Correction, regardless of age, when their transfer is authorized by the Superintendent of Prisons of the Department of Correction; and the Superintendent of Prisons may direct the transfer of Reformatory inmates to other institutions when their behavior or other circumstances indicate this action would be advisable.

Situated on 1119 acres of farm land, the Reformatory for Males conducts farming and dairying operations, with both of these projects providing supplies for the Reformatory and other State institutions. The State Use Industries activities include a Cannery, Brush and Box Shop, Book Repair Shop, Stonecrushing Plant, Metal Shop, Feed Mixing Mill, Sewing Shop, a poultry and turkey raising project, and the manufacture of temporary license tags for automobiles.

The average population for fiscal year 1960 was 1109.
