The Department of Transportation brings together under the direction of the Secretary six primary transportation agencies: the State Aviation Administration, the Maryland Port Administration, the Mass Transit Administration, the Motor Vehicle Administration, the State Highway Administration, and the Toll Facilities Administration. Also providing the Secretary with advice, guidance and direction in a variety of transportation matters are the Board of Airport Zoning Appeals, the Maryland Transportation Commission, and the State Roads Commission (Code 1957, 1971 Repl. Vol., Art. 41, secs. 206-208; 1969 Repl. Vol., 1975 Supp., Art. 94A). In addition, the Operating Services Center centralizes many of the Department's support functions in one organizational unit.
