Created in 1969, the Department of Natural Resources can trace its origins to the nineteenth century. The first State Geological Survey operated from 1834 to 1841. In 1896 the State Geological and Economic Survey was formed (Chapter 51, Acts of 1896). The State Game Warden's Office was created in 1896 and in 1916 became part of the newly formed Conservation Commission (Chapter 293, Acts of 1896; Chapter 682, Acts of 1916). By 1906 the State Board of Forestry was established (Chapter 294, Acts of 1906). In 1941 several new agencies concerned with conservation were created to supersede these older agencies: the Board of Natural Resources; the Department of Tidewater Fisheries; the Department of Game and Inland Fish; the Department of State Forests and Parks; the Department of Geology, Mines, and Water Resources; and the Department of Research and Education (Chapter 508, Acts of 1941). In 1969 these departments were further consolidated and became the present Department of Natural Resources (Chapter 154, Acts of 1969).

The Department of Natural Resources consists of the following agencies: Capital Programs Administration, Energy Administration, Forest and Park Service, Maryland Environmental Service, Maryland Environmental Trust, Maryland Geological Survey, Natural Resources Police Force, Scenic and Wild Rivers Review Board, Tidewater Administration, Water Resources Administration, and Wildlife Administration. The Department also includes the Upper Potomac River Commission, Land Reclamation Committee, Program Open Space Committee, and other advisory bodies. The Department is responsible for the Maryland membership units of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, Susquehanna River Basin Commission, Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission, Potomac River Fisheries Commission, Interstate Oil Compact Commission, Interstate Mining Commission, Potomac River Basin Advisory Committee, Ohio River Basin Commission, Coastal States Organization, and the Southern States Energy Board (Code Natural Resources Article, secs. 1-101 through 1-104).
