The Maryland School for the Deaf was established in 1868 as a free public residential school for deaf and hard-of-hearing children who reside in the State. The Governor appoints the thirty members of the Board of Visitors for indefinite terms (Chap. 247, Acts of 1867; Chap. 409, Acts of 1868; Chap. 19, Acts of 1880; Chap. 76, Acts of 1916; Chap. 148 as amended, Acts of 1957).

Chapter 462, Acts of 1968, established a branch of the Maryland School for the Deaf to be located near the population center of the State and to be administered and operated as part of and subject to the Maryland School for the Deaf.

The first phase of this branch school, which is called Columbia Campus Maryland School for the Deaf, opened in September 1973 (Code Education Article, sec. 8-304).

The school offers an academic education similar to that of public schools and in addition provides thorough instruction in communication skills, including speech and speech reading, signs and fingerspelling, auditory training, and use of individual hearing aids. In addition to the academic program, courses of study in vocational education are also offered to both male and female students. The school offers a broad athletic and physical education program, as well as a wide range of social and recreational activities. Vocational rehabilitation services are available to all graduating students to assist them in seeking employment, vocational or technical training, or higher education.

Information pertaining to the program is available upon request.

Created by Chapter 498, Acts of 1984, the Maryland Economic Development Corporation is a public instrumentality of the State. It enables the State to develop property for economic purposes. To serve the public interest, the Corporation develops vacant or unused industrial sites and facilities, and other economic resources in which the private sector has shown no significant interest or development capability.

The Corporation operates in economically distressed areas of the State. It assists State and local economic development agencies in their efforts to expand, modernize, and retain businesses, as well as to attract new ones to the State.

The Board of Directors is appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. It consists of thirteen members, including three ex officio, voting members. Members serve four-year terms (Code 1957, Art. 41, secs. 551-566).
