The Advisory Commission on Industrialized Building and Mobile Homes was created in 1971 (Chapter 662, Acts of 1971). It makes recommendations to the Secretary of Housing and Community Development on the promulgation and enforcement of rules and regulations prescribing standards for the construction of industrialized building units and mobile homes. The same Act provided for the inspection of the manufacturing facilities and the assemblies being produced.

The Commission submits an annual report to the Secretary regarding rules, regulations, and programs relating to the Industrialized Building and Mobile Homes Act of 1971.

The Commission consists of fifteen members appointed to three-year terms by the Secretary of Housing and Community Development. The Commission includes representatives of industries and professions involved in the development and construction of industrialized buildings and mobile homes. Persons are selected from building code enforcement agencies, architectural and engineering associations, building construction trades, the contracting and manufacturing industry, legislative bodies of local government, the financial industry, and the public (Code 1957, Art. 41B, secs. 6-201 through 6-208).
