

and rehabilitation institutions. The Director is appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Director serves at the pleasure of the Governor. The Deputy Director is appointed by the Director with the approval of the Governor.

The Agency supervises intake, probation, and after-care post-institutional supervision and counseling staff to all juvenile courts. Probation and after-care are separate functions. Probation involves the supervision of youngsters who are adjudicated delinquent but not institutionalized. After-care includes the supervision and counseling of young people for a prescribed period of time after their release from an institution (Code 1957, Art. 41C, secs. 2-101 through 2-131).

The Agency certifies for operation within the State the public and private institutions, organizations, and agencies that deal with the Agency in the area of juvenile delinquency.

The Juvenile Services Agency supervises two State training schools: Montrose School, and Charles H. Hickey, Jr. School. It develops and promulgates regulations, standards of care, and policies affecting their operation and management. The Agency also oversees four detention centers: Boys' Village of Maryland, J. DeWeese Carter Center, Alfred D. Noyes Children's Center, and Thomas J. S. Waxter Children's Center. In addition, the Agency supervises the State's seven Youth Centers for delinquent boys: Backbone Mountain, Doncaster, Green Ridge, Maple Run, Meadow Mountain, Savage Mountain, and Thomas R. O'Farrell.

The Agency is served by the State Advisory Board for Juvenile Services, the Maryland Juvenile Justice Advisory Council, the Maryland Professional Artists Council, the Maryland Professional Athletes Council, and the Citizens Advisory Committee for Charles H. Hickey, Jr. School.
