At the College Park Campus (UMCP) instruction is offered at undergraduate and graduate levels in almost every discipline. There are the Colleges of Agriculture, Arts and Humanities, Behavioral and Social Sciences, Business and Management, Education, Engineering, Human Ecology, Journalism, Library and Information Services, Life Sciences, Computer, Mathematical and Physical Sciences, and Physical Education, Recreation and Health, and the Schools of Architecture and Public Affairs.

Headquarters for the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station and the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service are located at UMCP. Among the many research and public service organizations on campus are the Sea Grant College, Fire and Rescue Institute, Center on Aging, Survey Research Center, Engineering Research Center, Transportation Studies Center, Water Resources Research Center, Bureau for Business and Economic Research, Institute for Applied Agriculture, Institute for Urban Studies, and the Institute for Governmental Service (IGS). The latter institute helps Maryland municipalities, counties, and State agencies solve specific problems. IGS also houses the University's Office of Public Service, which is designed to make it easier for the citizens of Maryland and the National Capital region to find and use the extensive resources of the five-campus University system.
