

INCORPORATED CITIES AND TOWNS

Incorporated cities and towns have their own government and defined municipal boundaries. In Maryland, most are governed by a mayor and council, although many elect town commissioners instead, and a few choose a council that appoints a city or town manager.

The executive officer's term and date of election are specified in each municipal charter and differ from town to town. However, the voluntary model for local government, contained in the Municipal Corporation Charter Act of 1955, provides that the Mayor shall be elected in May of every second odd-numbered year (Code 1957, Art. 23B).

Municipal telephone numbers, original incorporation dates (by chapter and year of Act of General Assembly or by referendum), 1980 population, executive officers, street addresses and ZIP codes are noted below. The list was compiled in part from information furnished by the Maryland Municipal League.
