Great Oaks Center was established in 1967 as the Metropolitan Washington Retardation Center (Chapter 556, Acts of 1967). The Center opened in the fall of 1970 and adopted its present name in 1971. Great Oaks serves mentally retarded persons from Calvert, Charles, Montgomery, Prince George's and St. Mary's counties. It was the first regional center in Maryland established to treat the mentally retarded. The Center provides care and training for an average daily population of 360 mentally retarded residents (Code Health—General Article, sec. 7-305).

Retarded and developmentally disabled individuals receive a full range of comprehensive and diversified services and programs, including respite care. Education, training, and habilitation services and programs for the facility's retarded residents are offered both in the Center and in the community.

A day care program integrates programs and services offered by Great Oaks. A Regional Team offers outreach services, such as training parents at home to deal with the special problems of their children so that institutionalization may be averted. The Team also helps local school teachers meet the education and training needs of their developmentally disabled students. County health departments and community agencies are aided to develop resources for the developmentally disabled. The Team also assists discharged residents in the community.
