PATUXENT INSTITUTION

Joseph Henneberry, Director

Jessup, MD 20794

799-3400

Authorized in 1951, Patuxent Institution opened in 1955 under administration by the Department of Correction (Chapter 476, Acts of 1951). The Institution became an autonomous agency under the control of the Board of Patuxent Institution in 1961 (Chapter 629, Acts of 1961). In 1970, the Institution was made part of the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services (Chapter 401, Acts of 1970). Patuxent's status has continued as an institution separate from the Division of Correction, and it has retained its own board.

Patuxent Institution provides treatment and rehabilitation programs and services for eligible prisoners. The Institution offers medical, psychiatric, psychological and social casework services, as well as academic, vocational, recreational and religious services. Treatment also is provided for individuals on preparole and parole status.

The Commissioner of Correction may refer a prisoner to Patuxent Institution for evaluation when so recommended by the sentencing court, the State's Attorney of the jurisdiction in which the person was last sentenced, or the staff of the Division of Correction. The Commissioner also may refer prisoners in response to their applications. Each prisoner referred is transferred to the Institution for evaluation by a team consisting of at least three professional employees of the Institution, including at least one psychiatrist, one psychologist, and one social worker or behavioral scientist. The evaluation team assembles and reviews relevant information and examines the prisoner. The team then determines whether the individual is eligible and states its findings in a report to the Director. If not eligible, the prisoner is returned to the Division of Correction to continue his sentence. If eligible, the prisoner remains at Patuxent Institution for treatment.

To provide for continuation of treatment, the Institution operates a community clinic in metropolitan Baltimore. Here, clinic staff offer psychotherapy, job and family counseling, and social casework services for individuals and families. At the community clinic, the Institution operates a halfway house. This residence provides housing and supportive services for parolees who have no support in the community. Some work-release inmates also live in the halfway house.

Appointed by the Secretary of Public Safety and Correctional Services, the Director is chief administrator of the Institution. Of three Associate Directors, one must be a psychiatrist and one a behavioral scientist. They assist primarily in diagnosis and treatment. The third Associate Director assists in the field of custody. By law, the staff also must include at least three additional psychiatrists or clinical psychologists, at least four trained social workers, a physician, and a dentist (Code 1957, Art. 31B).
