The University of Maryland Medical System was established in 1984 as a private, nonprofit corporation (Chapter 288, Acts of 1984). The System is responsible for patient care, medical education, community health services, and emergency medical treatment provided by the medical systems of the University of Maryland. These systems include the University of Maryland Hospital; the R Adams Cowley Shock Trauma Center; the University of Maryland Cancer Center; the James Lawrence Kernan Hospital, Inc.; and the Montebello Rehabilitation Center, Inc.

R Adams Cowley Shock Trauma Center was founded in 1961 as the clinical hub of the Maryland Institute of Emergency Medical Services Systems. Following the reorganization of the Institute in 1993, the Center continues under the management of the University of Maryland Medical System.

University of Maryland Cancer Center was formed in 1981. The Center is the focus of cancer-related work within the School of Medicine of the University of Maryland at Baltimore, and the University of Maryland Medical System.

The James Lawrence Kernan Hospital, Inc., serves orthopedic, plastic surgery, neurosurgery, dental and medical patients. It originated in 1895 as the Hospital for Crippled and Deformed Children and became affiliated in 1986 with the University of Maryland Medical System.

Montebello Rehabilitation Center, Inc., is a comprehensive-care rehabilitation hospital. Authorized as a State institution in 1951, the Center opened in 1953 (Chapter 412, Acts of 1951). Funded through the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, the Center was administered by the University of Maryland Medical System from 1986 to 1992. The Center was transferred from the Department to the University of Maryland Medical System in 1992 (Chapter 598, Acts of 1992).

The University of Maryland Medical System is governed by the Board of Directors. The Board consists of twenty-eight members. Seven are non-voting, ex officio members. Twenty-one are voting members appointed to five-year terms by the Governor. Appointed members include minority representatives, three regents of the University of Maryland System, one senator and one delegate, at
