The Governor's Commission on Women's Health was formed by the Governor in February 1993 (Executive Order 01.01.1993.04). The Commission's charge was to prepare an action plan to improve the health of women in Maryland. The Commission also was to determine how women's health and related services could be coordinated in programs for education, prevention, treatment, and better access to health care. To prevent health problems, the Commission considered how the public and private sectors might work together.

The Commission focused on three main areas in relation to women's health: mental health and motivated behaviors; nutrition and lifestyle; and life cycle issues. On November 19, 1993, the Commission reported to the Governor.
