

CHAP. 87. hundred and five, and to the end of the next session of assembly which shall happen thereafter; Provided nevertheless, that the several acts and supplements thereto herein mentioned shall be and are hereby declared subject to any alterations which may have been made therein since the passage of the said laws or supplements.

Proviso.

The act of 1797, ch. 53, was by this act continued until the 30th day of October 1801, and the end of the next session; and appears to have been further continued by 1801, ch. 102, to 30th of October 1805. All the other acts referred to were by this act continued to 30th of October 1805, and of course came within the provisions of the act of 1805, ch. 109, and the subsequent continuing acts. See the note under ch. 58.

Acts revived and continued.

2. AND BE IT ENACTED, That all and every act or acts, not herein enumerated, which have expired since the last session of assembly, are hereby revived and continued until the thirtieth day of October, eighteen hundred and one, and to the end of the next session of assembly which shall happen thereafter; and all acts and supplements thereto, not herein enumerated, which would expire with the present session, are hereby continued until the thirtieth day of October, eighteen hundred and one, and to the end of the next session of assembly which shall happen thereafter, except the acts for the destruction of crows and squirrels in Queen-Anne's county (k), and the destruction of crows in Kent county (l); Provided nevertheless, that all such acts, and the supplements thereto, shall be and are hereby declared subject to any alterations which may have been made therein since the passage of the said laws or supplements.
