

EXCEPTIONS—Continued—

- when necessary or available, 168, 169-171, 173, 177.
- when unnecessary or improper, 168-169.
- statement of reasons for ruling not reviewable by, 168.
- formal sufficiency of, 174.
- sufficiency of, as to presentation of exceptions, 170-172, 173, 174, 179.
- what may not be included in, 173, 174, 179.
- when evidence not to be set out in, 179.
- when documentary evidence to be set out in extenso, 179-180.
- connection between, 172, 174.
- necessity for separate, for distinct propositions, 174-175.
- reference to record to support, 172.
- time for signing of, 171, 175, 176.
- practice to sign before insertion of documentary evidence, 171.
- power of court to extend time for signing of, 175, 176.
- power of court to disregard consent of parties to extension of time for signing, 176.
- when delay in signing is excusable, 175.
- signing of, after expiration of judge's term, 178.
- signing of, where judges are divided in opinion, 178.
- power of another judge to sign, 178.
- practice where bill of exceptions is lost through death or illness of judge, 177-178.
- time for filing of, 175, 176.
- construction of, 174.
- conclusiveness of statements in, 174.
- correction and amendment of, 174.
- filing of, not equivalent to appeal, 178.
- tender of, as waiver of right to new trial on points that might have been included therein, 178.
- right to time to complete, before further steps taken by other party, 176.
- taking of, as pre-requisite to staying execution on judgment, 177.
- waiver of exceptions by suing out writ of error before execution of, 176.
- availability of, as part of record, 167-168.
- remedy for refusal of judge to sign, and proceedings thereunder, 177.

EXCHANGE—

- parol, void, 707.

EXECUTION—

- See AMENDMENTS; JUDGMENTS; REPLEVIN.
- history of Maryland legislation as to attachment or execution on judgment, 195-198.
- right of assignee of judgment to issue, in own name, 379.
- right of administrator d. b. n. to, where judgment in name of executor, 671.