So three-fifths of the members elected to the House not having voted in the affirmative,

The veto of the Governor was sustained.

The Secretary of State also delivered the following message from his Excellency the Governor :

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

Annapolis, March 19th, 1874.

To the House of Delegates:

I herewith return, without my approval, House Bill No. 84, entitled "An Act to prevent trespassing with gun or dog in Dorchester county, and to prescribe penalties therefor."

This bill provides that, in all cases where the owner or possessor of land has, by notice through the public prints, or otherwise, forwarned all persons from hunting thereon with dog or gun, that any person who, upon any pretence whatever, shall enter to hunt with dog or gun upon said land without first obtaining the leave or license of said owner or possessor, shall be liable to a fine which may reach to fifty dollars, and to imprisonment in the county jail for as much as ninety days. It does not require that the notice should be brought home to the knowledge of the trespasser, nor define what kind of notice shall be embraced within the extremely vague and elastic words "or otherwise," so as to
