

sistent therewith, and the Acts of 1872, chapter 78, entitled a supplement thereto, and chapter 387, entitled an Act to repeal and re-enact with amendments part thereof, and all other supplements and amendments thereto, or to invalidate any proceedings that may have been taken, or may be pending or may hereafter be pending, or may hereafter be taken under the provisions of said Acts or any supplements thereto; but the said Acts and supplements, and every part thereof, and including all rights of appeal and other rights created and guaranteed thereby, and all officers' duties and powers now existing and exercised, or hereafter to exist and be exercised under and according to the provisions of said Acts and supplements, shall continue in full force and effect until the next session of the Legislature, when, if the said annexation shall have been effected as required by this Act, proper provisions shall be made by the Legislature for distributing equitably between Baltimore county and the City of Baltimore, the expenses which may have hitherto and hereafter be incurred by the County Commissioners and the Street Commissioners of Baltimore county in the execution of the aforesaid Acts and supplements thereto.

The question recurring upon the adoption of the amendments,

Mr. Keech demanded the yeas and nays.

The demand being sustained,

The yeas and nays were called and appeared as follows:
