As of June 30, 1985, the University of Maryland had outstanding $55,000,000 of variable rate demand bonds issued April 23, 1985, which were subject to mandatory and optional redemption. The University had the option to convert all or part of the bonds to a fixed rate of interest.

On May 1, 1986 the University converted all variable rate demand bonds then outstanding ($53,800,000) to a fixed annual rate of interest ranging from 4.75% to 7.30% maturing serially on April 1 of each year from 1987 to 2005. Interest on the bonds is payable semi-annually each October 1 and April 1, commencing October 1, 1986, except that the initial interest payment will be for the five month period beginning with the date of conversion, May 1, 1986. An irrevocable letter of credit issued by a bank in connection with the variable rate bond issue was terminated upon conversion of the bonds.

The bonds issued are the debt and obligation of the University and are not a debt and obligation of, or pledge of, the faith and credit of the State.
