

Annapolis Data Center employees Joseph Serviss and Colleen Kappler monitor the center's communication network which transmits data to thousands of remote terminals in state agency offices throughout the state.