

3:00 P.M.

3:00 p.m. - Robert Rader, director of the Bureau of Revenue Estimates, reviews reports from Data Resources Incorporated, one of the state's economic forecasters.

3:02 p.m. - Armored courier picks up daily deposits from the Income Tax Division. The deposits will earn interest from 9:00 a.m. this morning.

3:15 p.m. - Comptroller Louis Goldstein and State Treasurer Lucille Maurer meet with other members of the Capital Debt Affordability Commission to finalize recommendations of the amount of general obligation debt that may prudently be authorized by the 1992 session of the legislature.

3:34 p.m. - Steve Watson extracts budget amendments from agency fiscal year closing documents to be able to track them through final approval by the governor and ensure proper accounting and reporting.

4:00 P.M.

4:04 p.m. - Karen Scheerer arrives at the Glen Burnie Carnival to set up admissions and amusement tax collections. The Comptroller's Office collects admission and amusement taxes for local governments.

4:12 p.m. - Motor Fuel Inspector Frank Von den Bosch issues a "stop sale" for high vapor pressure in gasoline to an Anne Arundel County station. The high vapor pressure, detected in tests at the Motor Fuel Testing Laboratory, causes engine problems for consumers.

4:15 p.m. - Marge Kirk audits a state income tax return for unreported income, based on a comparison of information supplied by the taxpayer and by a financial institution.

5:00 P.M.

5:03 p.m. - Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Enforcement Unit agents raid a Frederick County business, confiscating untaxed cigarettes and liquor.

5:15 p.m. - Ken Thompson confers with the Department of Budget and Fiscal Planning to determine final revisions to state agencies' original fiscal year 1991 appropriations.

5:25 p.m. - Don Scheeler and Betty Gaskins wrap up an inventory of wine, beer and distilled spirits at a Halethorpe wholesaler as part of an alcohol and tobacco tax audit.

State Treasurer Lucille Maurer and State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein work on Maryland's capital debt affordability analysis, which annually recommends debt authorization limits to the General Assembly.

6:00 P.M.

6:03 p.m. - Chief Deputy Comptroller Basil Wisner answers questions at a legislative hearing on state revenue policy.

6:45 p.m. - Comptroller Goldstein meets with local officials at a meeting of the Maryland Association of Counties.

7:00 P.M.

7:03 p.m. - Ed Taylor, a contractual employee in the Income Tax Division, calls a taxpayer to pursue a delinquent account as part of the Revenue Roundup, designed to provide an additional $15 million in revenue.

7:50 p.m. - Kathy Weiss finishes an emergency computer program to move delinquent income tax accounts to the Baltimore Office for follow-up.

(please turn to page 60)