

SEC. 299. The president and commissioners may from time to time and under such conditions as they may by their ordinances direct appoint such officer or officers as may be deemed necessary to carry into effect their ordinances, and as soon as practicable after their election and qualification, shall annually appoint a town bailiff, who shall continue in office until his successor is appointed and qualified, but he shall be subject to removal by the said commissioners for neglect of duty, disobedience of their orders or malfeasance in office, and shall within said town have all authority of a constable in making arrests and serving warrants; he shall preserve order in said town, superintend all work being done for or by said corporation within its limits, obey and perform the orders and ordinances of the said commissioners, and have charge of and care for all town property; light or cause to be lighted and care for and take charge of the street lamps, and in case the said streets are lighted by electricity or otherwise under contract he shall take note of and from time to time report to the said commissioners the condition of said lights and the number of such lights as are kept lighted; he shall also recover all fines and penalties imposed under said ordinances, and account to and pay over the same unto the town treasurer, and perform such other duties as the said commissioners may provide.

The said bailiff shall also be ex officio collector of town taxes, and shall within the limits of said town have all the authority of a constable, and shall receive such compensation for his services as bailiff and ex officio collector of town taxes as may be fixed by the said president and commissioners, not exceeding the sum of fifty dollars per month, for all of said services.

SEC. 301. The said bailiff shall have the same power and authority to enforce the collecting and payment of town taxes as are conferred upon the County Treasurer of Cecil County for the collecting of State and county taxes by sections 120 and 121 of Article 8 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Cecil County."

SEC. 304. The County Commissioners shall be relieved from the care of the roads, streets and alleys within the corporate limits of the Town of Rising Sun, and the care of the same shall be transferred to the president and commissioners of said town, and in consideration of said transfer all the roads, streets and alleys within the limits of said village shall be kept in good condition and repair by the said president and commissioners, and the said County Commissioners of Cecil County shall annually levy for and pay over to the President and Commissioners of said town a sum of not less than four hundred dollars
