An. Code, sec. 41. 1904, sec. 40. 1896, ch. 202, sec. 36. 1910, ch. 177 (p. 112).

49. Any convention or primary meeting as hereinafter defined, held for the purpose of making nominations to public office, and also voters to the number hereinafter specified, may nominate candidates for public office to be filled by election within the State. A convention or primary meeting within the meaning of this section is an organized assemblage of delegates or voters, representing a particular party or principle, whose highest candidate at any election held within two years next preceding the holding of such convention polled more than one per cent. and less than ten per cent. of the entire vote cast in the State, county or other division or district for which the nomination is made. Nominations may be made by means of primary elections, without the intervention of any convention by any party which at the last preceding election polled the requisite proportion of votes, as hereinbefore specified.
