

other member of the grand jury to be foreman during such vacancy. If for any reason any person or persons drawn as a grand juror or grand jurors shall fail to attend and be present at the conclusion of the drawing or be disqualified, or be excused for cause, the court shall forthwith proceed to fill such vacancy or vacancies from the remaining number of 25 names of those who are present in the order in which the names were drawn from the election district or districts, corresponding with those from which such vacancy may be created, as above, but if there be no names, or persons, or an inadequate number of them left in the boxes for the districts where the vacancies occur, the court may fill such vacancies by drawing the necessary number of names or persons, from any of the districts at large; and may thereupon, in its discretion, fill such vacancy or vacancies thus made in the petit jury by drawing the necessary number of additional names in the manner prescribed in this Act from the district or districts wherein such vacancy or vacancies may be; or such vacancies in the petit jury may remain unfilled, if the court deem it unnecessary to fill them.

226. The judge or judges of said court shall have the same power to compel attendance of jurors, and shall proceed in all other matters relating to jurors not provided for in this act, as under the Public General Laws relating to jurors.

227. Whenever a judge, or the judges, of the Circuit Court of the counties embraced in the Second Judicial Circuit, draws a jury, he or they, after selecting from the taxables and voters, as required by law, the list of names to be placed in the box for the drawing, and certifying to the list, shall cause the names on the list to be numbered, commencing with the first name thereon, numbering upwards consecutively, and then, instead of requiring the names on the selected list to be written on ballots and placed in and drawn from the box, the said judge or judges drawing the jury, in his or their discretion, and option and in lieu of such written ballots, may cause the Clerk of the Circuit Court for the county wherein they are to be used to provide a number of white marbles or balls, each of the same size and plainly marked with numbers from one consecutively upwards to the highest number on the selected list of names certified to by said judge or judges, which said marbles or balls shall be placed in the box from which drawings are made in the case where ballots are used, where the drawings are made by districts, the marbles or balls shall be deposited in the district compartments in such way that their numbers shall correspond, in each district, with the names on the judge's or judges' selected list and the numbers thereof; the said judge, or judges, shall then cause the Clerk of the Court for the county in which the drawing is being made, or one of his deputies whom the said judge, or judges, shall designate, neither the one nor the other who may be so required to act to be present at the selection of the said list of names or the numbering of the
