

the power held and exercised by the constables of this State; and the said bailiff shall give bond, to be approved by the county commissioners, as other constables, for the faithful performance of his duty as constable; he shall also execute a bond, with good and sufficient securities, to be approved by a majority of the commissioners of said town, in such penalty as they may require for the faithful performance of his duties as town bailiff, and for his accountability to the town commissioners for all taxes, assessments, fines or penalties collected by him; and he or his deputies shall have power to arrest, without warrant, any person engaged in violating any of the ordinances of the town or disturbing the public peace, and shall, without unreasonable delay, take him before some justice of the peace for trial.

1916, ch. 680, sec. 121.

133. The County Commissioners may, at their discretion, levy annually upon the assessable property of the county, and pay over, to the treasurer of said town the sum of one hundred dollars, to aid in keeping the streets of said town, as part of the public roads of the county, in good repair.

1920, ch. 615, sec. 121A.

134. That, in addition to the powers conferred upon said town by its charter, set forth in said Article, title and subtitle, the said town shall have power and authority, and it is hereby authorized and empowered, to levy taxes to the extent in any one year of eighty-five cents (85c) on every one hundred dollars ($100) of taxable property in said town, instead of seventy-five cents (75c), as heretofore provided in said charter and upon the same terms in other respects as provided by said charter.

See sec. 99.

1920, ch. 615, sec. 121B.

135. Said town is hereby authorized and empowered to issue certificates of indebtedness in lieu of its notes now outstanding not in excess of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000), each certificate to be for the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000), payable not later than ten (10) years from the first day of May, 1920, and bearing interest, payable semi-annually, not in excess of six per cent. (6%). Should the said certificates be issued for a shorter period than ten years, they may be renewed from time to time should it appear desirable to do so; provided, the entire period covered by the original certificate and renewal thereof does not exceed ten years. It shall be the duty of the town to levy annually a sum sufficient to pay interest on said certificates and renewals and to reduce the said indebtedness at least five hundred dollars ($500) in each and every year until the entire issue are paid and satisfied.

1920, ch. 615, sec. 121C.

136. The said town is also authorized and empowered to pass ordinances assessing special taxes for street improvements against property specially benefited thereby, assessing an annual tax on special privileges.
