

duties; as soon as practicable after said certified public accountant has completed his work as aforesaid, it shall be his duty to make a full and complete report thereof to the Mayor and City Council, showing the state of accounts between the said city and said officers; and if any of said officers have not complied with the laws and ordinances of said city in the discharge of their official duties the said certified public accountant shall call special attention thereto in said report.

92. It shall be the duty of every officer of said city mentioned in the preceding section to deliver to said certified public accountant whenever he (said certified public accountant) shall demand the same to be examined by him as aforesaid, all his books, papers and accounts with the said city. Any such officer who fails or refuses to deliver to said certified public accountant his books, papers and accounts, as aforesaid, after said certified public accountant has demanded the same, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars; all such fines shall be paid into the city treasury.

93. Any such report of said certified public accountant as is mentioned in this section of the Article shall be taken as prima facie correct in any suit or settlement between said city and any of the officers herein mentioned. The said certified public accountant shall be paid out of the city treasury for his services herein prescribed a sum not to exceed the sum of six hundred ($600) dollars. The Mayor shall have full power to regulate the duties of said certified public accountant; and before he shall be entitled to payment for said services, said account of said certified public accountant shall be presented to the City Council, and if found to be correct shall be ordered paid out of the money in the city treasury.

DEBT.

94. It shall not be lawful for any officer or employee of the Mayor and City Council, or the Mayor, or any member of the City Council in his individual capacity, or as a member of any committee, or for any committee of the City Council to make any purchase, incur any obligations, or in any way pledge the faith and credit of the city for any sum for any purpose whatever, without first having obtained the written order of the Council, approved by the Mayor (or passed over his veto, as the case may be) and any debt or obligation contracted in violation of the provisions of this section shall be altogether and every way subject to the approval and ratification of said Mayor and City Council.
