

P. L. L., 1888, Art. 19, sec. 4. 1878, ch. 218.

4. Any justice of the peace for said county may cause to be apprehended, and commit to the said almshouse, any vagrants, vagabonds, beggars and other idle, dissolute and disorderly persons found loitering or residing in said county, who follow no trade or occupation, and have no visible means of subsistence, there to be kept at hard labor for any term not exceeding three months; and the said keeper shall receive and employ them according to the tenor of their commitment.

P. L. L., 1888, Art. 19, sec. 5. 1878, ch. 218.

5. If any person shall sell or dispose of any strong drink to the inmates of said almshouse, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon indictment and conviction thereof shall forfeit and pay the sum of twenty-five dollars, one-half to the informer and the other half to the county commissioners, for the use of said almshouse.

P. L. L., 1888, Art. 19, sec. 6. 1878, ch. 218.

6. Upon complaint made by the keeper of said almshouse before any justice of the peace of said county, that any vagrant, vagabond or other idle, dissolute and disorderly person thereto committed and therein remaining, has behaved himself in a disorderly manner, or has neglected and refused to perform his daily labor and task, or neglected and refused to obey and keep any of the rules and by-laws of said almshouse, the said justice may cause such person to be brought before him, and if satisfied of the truth of the charge, may commit him to the county jail for a period not exceeding three months.

P. L. L., 1888, Art. 19, sec. 7. 1878, ch. 218.

7. The said commissioners are authorized and directed to appoint, annually, a physician for said almshouse, and to allow him such compensation as they may deem proper; and it shall be the duty of said physician to give information to said commissioners whenever they may require it, or he may deem it necessary, of the condition of said almshouse and the mode of treatment of the inmates therein.

P. L. L., 1888, Art. 19, sec. 8. 1878, ch. 218.

8. The said commissioners are authorized to make any rules and by-laws that may be necessary and proper for the preservation of order and good government in said almshouse.
