Trade—Trading Stamps.

An. Code, 1924, sec. 504. 1912, sec. 456. 1904, sec. 404. 1898, ch. 207, sec. 263A.

593. No person or association of persons shall, either directly or indirectly, by agent or otherwise, use or hold for use in any way, or sell any stamp commonly called a trading stamp, or any ticket, or check, or any written or printed promise or assurance, express or implied, or any other scheme or device for the sale, barter or trade of any goods, wares or merchandise, holding out as an inducement for any such sale, barter or trade the giving or issuing of any such stamp, ticket, check, promise, assurance, scheme or device, which stamp, ticket, check, promise, assurance, scheme or device is to be or may be presented to or redeemed by some person or association of persons other than those making the sale, barter or trade aforesaid, the holder of said stamp, ticket, check, promise, assurance, scheme or device for presentment or redemption getting or receiving in exchange therefor any gift, prize or gratuity, or anything uncertain, undetermined or unknown to the purchaser of said goods, wares or merchandise at the time of the purchase thereof.

The element of chance in the nature of a lottery is not found in mere purchase of merchandise and the receipt of same, accompanied by the gift of a stamp to be redeemed by defendant or some other party. When and under what circumstances the issue and delivery of trading stamps is legal, not being dependent upon element of chance which partakes of nature of a lottery. State v. Caspare, 115 Md. 10; State v. Sency Co., 134 Md. 437.

If the inducement for a sale is a stamp which would enable the holder to get something uncertain, undetermined and unknown to him at time of the purchase, the transaction involves an element of chance in nature of a lottery. This section is valid
