

An. Code, 1924, sec. 17. 1933 (Special Sess.), ch. 2, sec. 17.

25. (Death of Licensee.) Upon the death of the holder of any license issued under the provisions of this Article other than Class E and Class F licenses, the license shall expire, provided, however, that upon application to the Comptroller, or the Clerk of the Court issuing such license, as the case may be, and upon the payment of a fee of One Dollar ($1.00), made by the executors or administrators of the deceased licensee, a certificate of permission may be granted for the continuation of the business in the name of such executors or administrators for the benefit of the Estate of the deceased for a period not exceeding eight months from the date of any such permission, unless the license shall sooner expire, in which case upon application by the executor as above provided a renewal license for a period not exceeding 8 months after the death of the license holder may be issued subject to the right of protest, revocation, suspension and restriction as in other cases, upon the payment of a pro rata license fee for such period, and during the period of such continuation the said license and the executors or administrators of the deceased shall be subject to all of the provisions of this Article. If the business of the licensee be not continued as above provided, his executors or administrators shall be authorized to apply for and obtain any refund to which the deceased would have been entitled if his license had been surrendered for cancellation upon the date of his death. Upon the death of the holder of any Class E or Class F license the license shall expire; provided, however, that upon application to the Comptroller, and upon payment of a fee of one dollar, made by an applicant on behalf of the company with respect to which such expired license was issued, a new license shall be granted by the Comptroller for the continuation of the privilege conferred by such expired license during the period such expired license would have continued but for such death.

26. On the tenth day after the holder of any license issued under the provisions of this Article shall have vacated, or been evicted from, the premises for which said license was issued, said license shall expire, unless an application for approval of a transfer thereof to another location or assignment to another person pursuant to Section 31 of this Article or an application pursuant to Section 25 of this Article has been approved or is then pending, provided, however, that the official authorized to issue licenses may, in his discretion, postpone such expiration for an additional period not exceeding twenty days in any case to avoid undue hardship.

An. Code, 1924, sec. 18. 1933 (Special Sess.), ch. 2, sec. 18.

27. (Licenses—Renewals.) Upon the expiration of any license, except temporary and special licenses issued under the provisions of this Article, the holder of such expiring license shall be entitled to a new license for another year upon the payment of the annual fee herein prescribed, provided an application under oath for such new license be filed with the official authorized to issue same, and provided, further, that a protest signed by not less than ten residents, or real estate owners of the precinct in which the licensed place of business is located, has not been filed against the granting of such new license, at least thirty days before the expiration of the license for which a renewal is sought, and if such a protest has been filed, the same shall be heard and determined as in the case of original applica-
