

visions of sections 74, 75, 79 to 81, inclusive, of this Article, or who shall interfere with the general measurers or inspectors of oysters or the special inspectors in the discharge of their duties, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction before any justice of the peace or court of competent jurisdiction, shall pay a fine of fifty dollars and costs, one-half of said fine to the informer, unless he be an officer under this Article, and the other half to the Comptroller, to the credit of the oyster fund. In default of payment of fine and costs, the party convicted shall be confined in jail for not more than twenty days. Each and every inspector shall report monthly to the Conservation Commission, or oftener, if required by them, concerning all the oysters which may be disposed of within his inspection district, and such reports shall be a full and complete account of all sales of oysters that have been made within such districts. The Commission may at any time for good cause shown suspend or remove any inspector from office.¹

For abolition of informer's fees, see art. 38, sec. 3.
