

WILD FOWL.

1870, c. 327 enacts as follows:

347. No person shall trap, shoot, or in any manner ^{1870, c. 327, s. 1.} catch, kill or wound any bird or birds, or wild fowl ^{Unlawful to shoot.} of any kind or description whatever, in Washington county, except hawks, owls, wild ducks, wild pigeons, jack snipe, plover, sand pipers, reed birds, cedar birds and rails; provided, however, that it shall be lawful ^{Proviso.} to shoot wood cock between the twentieth day of June ^{Wood cock.} and the thirty-first day of December in each year; pheasants, bull bats or night hawks and doves, be- ^{Pheasants, &c.} tween the twelfth day of August and the thirty-first day of December; wild turkeys between the first day ^{Turkeys.} of November and the first day of the ensuing March, and partridges from and after the twentieth day of Oc- ^{Partridges.} tober, in the year eighteen hundred and seventy-two, until the thirty-first day of December next ensuing, and between the twentieth day of October and the thirty-first day of December annually thereafter.

348. Any person or persons violating the preceding ^{Ibid. s. 2.} section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on con- ^{Penalty.} viction thereof, in the circuit court for said county, shall be fined not less than ten nor more than twenty dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding twenty days, or until payment of said fine and costs, one-half of said fine to be paid to the county commissioners of said county, for the use of the public schools of said county, and the other half to the in- former.

Approved and in force April 4, 1870.

1870, c. 200 repeals 1868, c. 21, [Sup. 1868, p. 380,] and enacts as follows, and sus- pends the operation of all acts of assembly in conflict with its provisions until the expiration of this act:

349. No person or persons shall kill, shoot, or in ^{1870, c. 200, s. 2.} any manner catch or wound any partridge or par- ^{Unlawful to} tridges in Washington county from the date of the ^{kill, &c., par-} passage of this act, until the twentieth day of October, ^{tridges.} eighteen hundred and seventy-two.