

porate, by the name of the commissioners of Snow Hill, and by that name may sue and be sued, have and use a common seal, and have perpetual succession.

129. The bounds and limits of the said town are as Bounds. follows, to wit: beginning at a point on the Pocumoke river, north forty-six degrees west from the next corner of a bridge in the county road leading to New Ark, said bridge being north twenty and one-half degrees east from the west corner of the residence of James Burroughs, and being over a ditch called the "tax ditch," thence south forty-six degrees east to the west corner of said bridge, thence by and with the said west side of said bridge and the southwest bank of the ditch aforesaid, to the northwest corner of a bridge in the county road leading to the public landing, thence with the west side of said bridge and the west bank of the said "tax ditch" to the south corner of a lane commonly called the "Collins lane," thence with the north side of said lane south sixty-three degrees west to the new lane, thence south sixty-three degrees west to the west side of the "Virginia road," thence in a straight line to the north corner of a bridge, it being near to and north sixteen degrees east from the west corner of Mrs. Sally Martin's house, thence with the north side of said bridge, and the north and west banks of ditch over which lies said bridge to a branch in the county road leading to Lindseyville, thence north eighty-seven degrees west to a run which is near and westerly from the house on the "Farrow farm," and leads to Pocumoke river, thence with the east side of said run to a branch (near a gate) in the road leading to the farm of George S. Richardson, thence north twenty-eight degrees west to the Pocumoke river, thence with the south bank of said river to the place of beginning.

130. The legal voters of Snow Hill who have resided within its corporate limits six months preceding the election, and the free male white citizens of Worcester county who own any interest in real estate or in houses in said town, of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, shall, on the first Monday of May, in

Election of commissioners