

1884, ch. 520.

147. At their first meeting, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, they shall appoint one or more bailiffs, who shall receive such compensation for their services and perform such duties as may be prescribed by said commissioners.

Ibid.

148. They shall have authority to remove any clerk and treasurer or bailiff, for neglect of duty, incompetency, or any other cause which, in their judgment, may seem right, and shall supply such vacancy for the remainder of the term.

Ibid.

149. Every bailiff, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall take an oath before the president, or in his absence, before some one of the commissioners, faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties of his office, without favor, affection or prejudice.

Ibid

150. Every bailiff, before a tax levy is placed in his hands for collection, shall give bond to the commissioners in a penalty double the amount of said tax levy, with a surety or sureties, to be approved by the commissioners, for the faithful collection of said levy.

Ibid.

151. The commissioners may make by-laws, not contrary to law, for the regulation and good government of said town and the inhabitants thereof, and to restrain all disorders and disturbances, and prevent and remove all nuisances, inconveniences and annoyances within said town; to prevent the running at large of horses, cattle and other stock, and the firing of guns, pistols and fire-crackers in the streets, lanes and alleys of said town; to make, repair and regulate footways; make and keep open drains or sewers; to extend the streets or alleys, and renew their boundaries, and make new streets, and do such other things as they may deem proper; and may enforce obedience to their by-laws by such fines, penalties and forfeitures as they may deem reasonable, not to exceed twenty dollars for any one offence.
