

1882, ch. 233 1888, ch. 266.

186. Any person who may violate any of the provisions of section 185 shall, upon conviction thereof before any justice of the peace of said county, be fined for each and every offence the sum of fifty dollars and costs of prosecution, and be committed to the county jail until said costs and fines are paid; and of all said fines one-half shall go to the informer and the other half be paid to the county commissioners for the betterment of public roads in said county.

Ibid.

187. The defendant shall have the right to appeal to the circuit court from the decision of the justice of the peace; provided, that unless he shall give good and sufficient bond, with security, for his appearance at the next term of said court, and to pay all fines and costs that may be imposed upon him, he shall stand committed to the county jail until said fines and costs are paid, or until the said circuit court, upon appeal, shall reverse the judgment of the said justice of the peace.

FUR.

1870, ch. 167.

188. No person shall trap, shoot, or in any manner catch, kill or wound any muskrats, otter or mink, in Dorchester county, between the first day of April and the fifteenth day of December, in each and every year.

Ibid.

189. Any person violating the preceding section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof in the circuit court for said county shall be fined not less than twenty dollars, nor more than thirty dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding six months, or until the payment of said fines and costs, one-half of said fine to be paid to the county commissioners for the use of the public schools of the county, and the other half to the informer.

Ibid.

190. Any person found trespassing upon the lands or marshes of another in said county with the intention of catching, trapping
