

of any of the laws or ordinances of the corporation, according to the tenor of the commitment, and in the same manner and under the same regulations as persons committed for a violation of laws of the State.

1884, ch. 62.

347. All fines imposed by virtue of any law or ordinance of the said village, may be recovered before the president of the board of commissioners or a justice of the peace, in the same manner as small debts, and subject to the same right of appeal.

Ibid.

348. All fines, fees and costs shall go to the corporation, and shall be appropriated as directed by ordinance.

Ibid.

349. In cases in which any person shall be found guilty of violating any ordinance of the corporation, it shall and may be lawful for the president of the board of commissioners trying said cause, upon the conviction of the offender, to impose the fine prescribed by the particular ordinance under which said person was tried, and upon failure or refusal of the party convicted thereof to pay such fines and costs, to commit him to the village jail, or to the jail of said county for the time prescribed by the said ordinance, unless he shall pay such fines and costs before the day limited in such commitment, in which case the president of the board of commissioners or justice of the peace who has directed such commitment, shall issue his order to the sheriff of said county to release such person; but such commitment shall not continue for more than thirty days.

Ibid.

350. In all appeals from the president of the board of commissioners to the circuit court for Frederick county, the parties appealing shall give bond, with at least two sureties, who shall be approved by the president, in a penalty double the amount of the fine imposed and the costs which may accrue on such appeal, which penalty shall be adjudged by the president, and conditioned that if the party appealing shall not prosecute such appeal with effect at the next term of the circuit court for
