1870, ch. 281.

118. Upon the arrest of such offender he shall be taken before a justice of the peace and tried, and if found guilty he shall pay a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars, to be recovered as other small debts are now recovered; and the said justice shall condemn all property seized by the officers making the arrest, which shall appear in proof to have been in the possession of, or used by the party found guilty of a violation of section 115, and adjudge and decree the same to be sold.

Ibid.

119. Said property shall be sold by the officer making the seizure, on ten days' notice by either written or printed advertisement placed in four public places; and the proceeds of sale after deducting the costs of the proceedings and the expenses of sale, shall be divided as follows: one-fourth to the officer making the seizure, and the residue to be divided equally among the persons who aided him in making such seizure.

Ibid.

120. Any party aggrieved shall have the right of appeal to the circuit court for the county.

1878, ch. 145.

121. No person shall take shad or any fish in the waters of the Chesapeake bay, or its tributaries, bounding on or lying within Harford county, by means of pound or stake nets, or any nets whatsoever that shall be attached to the bottom of said waters or tributaries, by stakes, anchors or any weights whatever; but nothing herein contained shall prevent owners of land bordering upon said waters from catching fish for the use of their families and employees, and actually consumed by them; provided, such owners shall not place nets in any channel of said waters, nor more than one-fourth of the distance across any stream; and provided further, that nothing in this section shall prevent the use of fyke nets in the Susquehanna river.
