

boundary between any of said counties, the justices of the peace of either of said counties bounding on said waters or stream, and the circuit court for either of said counties, shall have concurrent jurisdiction; and any person arrested for the violation of any of the provisions of these sections may be taken to either of said counties upon whose justices of the peace or circuit court jurisdiction is conferred by this section, for commitment and trial; and from the judgments of the justices of the peace mentioned in this section, appeals may be taken on the terms mentioned in the next preceding section.

1888, ch. 890.

126. The possession, between the fifteenth day of October and the thirty-first day of December of each year, of any net or trap, used or contrived for the purposes forbidden by section 123, shall be prima facie evidence against its possessor of its being possessed for the purpose of violating that section.

1878, ch. 276. 1888, ch. 890.

127. Nothing in section 123 shall be construed to prohibit the use, as now by law allowed, of what are known as hauling seines, when laid out from and landed on the shore.

1882, ch. 287.

128. It shall not be lawful for any person to fish with seines in the waters of the Gunpowder river from the twentieth day of May to the twentieth day of August, and from the first day of November to the first day of February; and any person so fishing in said waters shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction of having violated this section shall pay a fine of not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each and every offence.

Ibid.

129. Any sheriff or constable who shall be satisfied, either upon his own view or from information received from any other person on oath, that any person has violated the provisions of the preceding section, is empowered to arrest the offender.