

1888, ch. 254.

33. They shall also, annually, appoint a chief bailiff, and such number of under-bailiffs as they may deem necessary.

Ibid.

34. They shall allow their chief clerk, chief bailiff and under-bailiff, or bailiffs, such compensation as they shall think proper.

Ibid.

35. They and all other officers of the corporation shall, before they enter upon the duties of their office, make oath that they will diligently and faithfully, to the best of their skill and judgment, perform the duties of their office, and shall file a certificate thereof of the officer, before whom the same was made, among the records of the corporation.

Ibid.

36. The clerk and chief bailiff shall give bond to the commissioners in such penalties, and with such sureties, as said commissioners may require, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of their respective offices.

Ibid

37. The commissioners shall receive all returns of elections, and shall determine all questions arising thereon; but any person feeling himself aggrieved by such decisions may appeal therefrom to the circuit court for Montgomery county, which court shall hear and determine such appeal, and decide who shall pay the cost thereof.

Ibid.

38. They may pass such ordinances, not inconsistent with law, as they may deem beneficial to the town; and may open and close streets, lanes and alleys; grade and pave the same; remove nuisances and obstructions therefrom; restrain all disorders and disturbances; prevent all congregations of disorderly persons in public places; apprehend and fine all tramps and vagabonds; impose a tax on dogs, geese, hogs, and other animals, running at large in the street, or totally prohibit the same, and may impose fines, penalties and forfeitures, for the violation of their ordinances, and commit all offenders to the county jail, until the same be paid with cost.
