

1878, ch. 452.

150. One-half of all such fines shall be paid to the informer and the other half to the county commissioners, for the use of the public roads.

HYATTVILLE.

1886, ch. 424.

151. The citizens of the town of Hyattville, in Prince George's county, are a body corporate by the name of "The Commissioners of Hyattville," with all the powers and privileges of a body politic and corporate, and by said corporate name may have perpetual succession, sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded in any court of law or equity, and have and use a common seal, and purchase and hold real, personal and mixed property, and sell and dispose of the same for the benefit of the town.

Ibid.

152. The limits of the town shall be as follows: commencing at the junction of the eastern branch of the Potomac river and the northwest branch, and following the northwest branch to Carlton's dam; thence in a direct line to a stone on the south side of a public road leading to Bladensburg; thence in a direct line to the western extremity of Avalon avenue; thence with Avalon avenue to the western boundary of the Washington and Baltimore turnpike; thence with the western boundary of said turnpike southerly to its intersection with the southern line of Riversdale extended; thence with said line easterly to the Washington branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad; thence with the easterly boundary of said railroad right of way southerly to the Alexandria junction of said railroad; thence with the eastern boundary of the right of way of said Alexandria branch road to the east branch of the eastern branch of the Potomac river; thence with said east branch and adjacent limits of the corporation of Bladensburg, to the place of beginning.

Ibid.

153. The male citizens of said town, of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, having resided therein six months next preceding any election held hereunder, and who are qualified to vote