

cock between the first day of February and the fifteenth day of June, nor any pheasant between the first day of January and the first day of September.

1878, ch. 405. 1888, ch. 538.

6. Any person violating any of the provisions of the preceding section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof before any justice of the peace in said county shall pay a fine of five dollars for each and every woodcock or rabbit shot or taken; one-half of said fine to be paid to the informer and the remainder as directed in the succeeding section; and on failure to pay said fine shall be committed to the house of correction or the county jail, in the discretion of the justice trying the case, for ten days.

1888, ch. 538.

7. It shall not be lawful for any person not a bona fide resident or taxpayer of said county to shoot any woodcock or rabbits in the said county without having first obtained from the clerk of the circuit court for said county a license permitting the person named in said license to shoot said game in said county, for one year from the day on which said license is issued; and the person named therein, or party procuring such license, shall pay to said clerk for such license the sum of ten dollars, which amount shall be turned over by the said clerk to the board of school commissioners of Baltimore county for the use of the public schools, and fifty cents to the clerk for his fee for issuing said license; and any non-resident convicted before a justice of the peace of said county for gunning within the limits of said county without a license so to do shall be fined ten dollars for each and every offence, and on failure to pay said fine, the offender shall be confined in the county jail for ten days; provided, that any landowner may extend the privilege of killing said game upon his land to whomsoever he pleases during such parts of the year as the killing of such game is lawful under section 5; in case of conviction for any offence under sections 5-7, one-half of all fines imposed shall be paid to the informer and the other half of said fines shall be paid to the board of county school commissioners for said county, for the use of the public schools in said county.
