

1888, ch. 96.

228. It shall be the duty of each road supervisor to cause all public roads in his district to be kept cleared, smooth, and in good repair, with good and sufficient bridges and underdrains where required, and to keep the same in good repair.

Ibid.

229. All able-bodied male residents of Somerset county, between the ages of twenty-one and fifty-five years, shall be compelled to labor not less than two days, of eight hours each, in every year, on the public roads in the district in which they reside; provided, however, no person shall be required to labor more than four miles from his place of residence.

Ibid.

230. Whenever in the judgment of the road supervisor any of the public roads in his district shall require repairs, he shall summon to work on such road such number of persons residing in the district as he may deem necessary, giving to each of such persons at least two days' notice of the time and place of meeting, and what tools they must furnish.

Ibid.

231. No person shall be deemed to have discharged his liability to work on the public roads until he shall have actually worked sixteen hours thereon in each year; and the supervisor shall keep the time each person shall work; and when any balance of time for such work shall be due from any person, he shall be liable to be again summoned to work by the supervisor as often as may be necessary, until such person has worked out his time of sixteen hours for each year as provided by section 229.

Ibid.

232. Road supervisors may make such commutation of labor for teams, carts, wagons or road machines, as they may deem proper, and all commutations shall be reported by them in their semi-annual report to the county commissioners.
