

P. L. L, (1860,) art. 20, sec. 69.

81. If any person shall put any horse, mare or gelding into or under the said market-house, he shall forfeit the sum of seventy-five cents.

Ibid sec. 70.

82. The clerk of the market shall take charge of the market-house and the market, and examine and inspect the provisions and victuals brought thereto for sale; may examine and try the weight of butter brought to said market in prints and parcels, and if the same shall be found wanting in weight, shall seize and appropriate the same, and if any be found unsound or unwholesome, shall seize and destroy the same; he shall also try and adjust the scales, weights and measures used at the market by the standard of the county, and if any be false or untrue, shall seize the same, and after they are adjusted, shall sell them to the highest bidder, and account for the money arising from the sale to the said commissioners.

Ibid. sec 71.

83. The market-house and stalls, shambles, issues and appurtenances thereof, are vested in the commissioners of Easton for the use and benefit of the inhabitants of said town; and the clerk of the market may rent out the stalls and shambles thereof, and keep an account of the persons renting and the profits arising therefrom, and render duplicates of such accounts to the commissioners, annually, on the first day of April, or oftener if required, and the rents shall be paid to the order of the commissioners and applied to the repair and support of said market-houses.

Ibid. sec. 72.

84. The rents of said stalls and shambles may be recovered in the name of the said commissioners before any justice of the peace, in the same manner as small debts.

Ibid. sec. 73.

85. The said commissioners, on the first Monday of April, shall annually appoint two persons to be jointly or severally weighers of hay and the corders of firewood that shall be bought
