

by bathing, swimming, boating, skating, or by throwing therein any filth, garbage, carcass or other matter, or to conduct or carry on, at or adjacent to any of said reservoirs and storage dams, any trade or business affecting the cleanliness or purity of the water in said reservoirs and storage dams.

1883, ch. 21.

395. It shall not be lawful for any person to interfere with, break, injure, deface, carry away or destroy any of the pipes, valves, stops, castings, fire plugs, hydrants, instruments or apparatus of the said water company leading to and from any of the reservoirs and storage dams of said company, or on the grounds of said company, or along the lines of its streams or pipes, or in the town of Hagerstown.

Ibid.

396. It shall not be lawful for any person to open any of the stops and valves, or tap any of the pipes of the said water company, or draw therefrom any water, without the permission of said company first had and obtained under such regulations as said company shall prescribe.

Ibid.

397. It shall not be lawful for any person to open or interfere in any manner with any of the fire-plugs and hydrants of said water company, or discharge any water therefrom without the permission of said company first had and obtained under such regulations as said company shall prescribe.

Ibid.

398. It shall not be lawful for any person to do, or cause to be done, any act whatsoever whereby the water or works, reservoirs, storage dams, or any pipe, plug, hydrant, valve, cock, meter, motor, instrument or machine belonging to the said water company shall be stopped, obstructed, impaired or injured.

Ibid.

399. Upon information given upon oath or affirmation to any justice of the peace of Washington county of any violation of any of the provisions of this sub-title of this article, he shall issue his warrant, to be directed to the sheriff or any constable of said
