

1874, ch. 164.

282. All guns, nets, fire-lights or boats, with the tackle and furniture on board, condemned under the provisions of this sub-title of this article, shall be sold by the sheriff, or some constable of said county, at public sale, after twenty days' notice of the time and place of such sale, by advertisement, posted in at least two public places in the vicinity of said sale, to the highest bidder for cash; and the proceeds of said sale shall be applied to the payment of the fine imposed and costs, including a fee of ten dollars to the officer arresting the offender, or seizing the said gun, net, fire-light or boat.

Ibid.

283. Any party, against whom any justice of the peace may render a judgment under this sub-title of this article, either to pay a fine or that the property shall be condemned, may at any time within ten days from the rendition of such judgment appeal from such judgment to the circuit court for said county; but no execution or sale shall be stayed, unless the party appealing shall give bond with security to the State of Maryland, in double the value of the property condemned, or of the fine imposed, as the case may be, with condition to prosecute such appeal with effect, and to pay the value of the property condemned and fine imposed, and all costs attending such proceedings in case such judgment shall be affirmed; such security must be a resident of said county, and worth double the amount of the property condemned.

Ibid.

284. The several justices of the peace and clerk of the circuit court for said county shall pay to the county commissioners, every three months, all the money they may have in hand at such time, arising from fines, penalties or forfeitures imposed under this sub-title of this article.

Ibid.

285. When two or more persons are or have been engaged in violating any of the provisions of this sub-title of this article, either of the parties so engaged may inform against the other, and the person so informing shall be exempt from prosecution under the preceding sections of this sub-title of this article, and
